

Terms of Use and Privacy Policy

1. General Conditions

The Literary Tours Portugal Portal is managed by Turismo de Portugal, I.P. and is intended to provide information and suggest literary routes for users wishing to discover and/or visit Portugal.

The Portal is not operated for profit, and there is no commercial or other interest in the selection of the content presented. The Portal's content is prepared according to editorial and marketing criteria for the sole purpose of making it easier to choose Portugal as a tourist destination.

Before consulting the Portal, however, its Terms of Use and Privacy Policy should be read.

By remaining on and using the Portal, the visitor/user accepts its terms and conditions without reservation. Anyone who does not agree with them must immediately cease browsing the Portal.

Turismo de Portugal, I.P. reserves the right, at any time, to alter the presentation and configuration of the Portal, as well as its terms and conditions of use and Privacy Policy. Accordingly, the visitor/user should consult these terms and conditions whenever accessing the Portal.

Further information may be obtained from Turismo de Portugal, I.P. by e-mail at info@literarytoursportugal.com.

2. Property Rights

All content on the Portal, including, in particular, texts, photographs, images, illustrations, drawings, graphics, engravings, trademarks, logos, advertising, audio or video materials, web design and software, or any other distinctive signs capable of commercial and industrial use, is protected under general law and legislation governing intellectual and industrial property, copyright and related rights, and may not be used outside the Portal without the prior written consent of Turismo de Portugal, I.P.

Without prejudice to the foregoing, the user may download or copy content from the Portal strictly for personal use.

Use of the Portal for unlawful purposes or for purposes that may be considered damaging to the image of Turismo de Portugal, I.P. is expressly prohibited.

Misappropriation, counterfeiting, use of misappropriated or counterfeit content, unlawful identification and unfair competition are criminal offences.

Turismo de Portugal, I.P. reserves the right to take legal action against those responsible for any copying, reproduction or other unauthorised use of the content of the Portal by third parties.

3. Exclusion of Liability

Turismo de Portugal, I.P. reserves the right, at any time, to suspend, modify or discontinue the publication of all or part of the Portal. Visitors/users accept that access to the Portal and its channels and services may be terminated at any time, with or without prior notice, and Turismo de Portugal, I.P. may not be held liable for this.

Turismo de Portugal, I.P. undertakes to make every effort and exercise all due diligence necessary to maintain the normal operation of the Portal, with the availability and continuity permitted by the existing technical resources, adopting at all times the best international practices generally used in the sector, particularly in relation to security and the safeguarding of the confidentiality and privacy of visitors/users of the Portal, while also using every possible means to prevent the presence of viruses or other harmful elements that may cause changes to the visitor/user's computer system.

Notwithstanding the above commitment, Turismo de Portugal, I.P. cannot guarantee, and therefore disclaims liability for, damage caused by interruptions, failures or deficiencies in the operation of the Portal. Likewise, Turismo de Portugal, I.P. cannot ensure that the Portal will operate correctly at all times or that it will always be free from viruses or other harmful elements that may damage or cause changes to the visitor/user's computer system, electronic documents or files, and it shall in no way be liable for any resulting loss or damage.

Turismo de Portugal, I.P. also disclaims any liability for loss or damage resulting from interventions or conduct by third parties that violate personality rights, intellectual and industrial property rights, commercial or industrial secrets, rules on unfair competition or unlawful advertising, or from abusive intrusions that may affect the privacy and security of the use of the Portal.

Turismo de Portugal, I.P. will make every effort to ensure that the information and facts contained on the Portal are the best and most relevant among those available. However, Turismo de Portugal, I.P. gives no express or implied warranty that information on the Portal supplied, produced or issued by third parties is always up to date and correct, and accepts no liability for any direct and/or indirect consequences arising from the use of the information provided. Turismo de Portugal, I.P. therefore recommends that users of the Portal contact the organisations and companies mentioned directly in order to confirm the information obtained.

Turismo de Portugal, I.P. would appreciate being informed by the visitor/user whenever incorrect and/or outdated data is found on the Portal, so that it may be corrected.

4. Cookies

The Portal uses a mechanism known as cookies, which are small text files stored on the user's computer and which allow Turismo de Portugal, I.P. to identify the computers that access the Portal and the content of interest to their respective users.

Although Turismo de Portugal, I.P. does not disclose any individualised information to third parties, even where it does not identify the person concerned, the Portal retains aggregated statistical information about its visitors' preferences and may disclose it to official entities in the tourism sector.

Cookies allow the Portal to recognise the user of a computer on a subsequent visit, treating the new visit as a continuation of the previous one.

The use of cookies may be disabled on your computer. On some operating systems and/or browsers, cookies may be disabled only for certain websites. Please consult your computer manual to perform this operation.

If you disable the use of cookies, the Portal will treat you as a new user each time you access it and will not retain any information about you between visits.

5. Links

The Portal contains addresses of websites belonging to companies and tourism entities, as well as other sources of information that may be of interest to the visitor/user. Turismo de Portugal, I.P. disclaims any liability in respect of the information provided by those websites and has no control over their personal data processing and security policies.

6. Amendments to the Terms of Use and Privacy Policy

Turismo de Portugal, I.P. reserves the right, at any time, to make adjustments or amendments to these Terms of Use and Privacy Policy, publishing such changes through its own communication channels.

10. Interpretation and Jurisdiction

The interpretation of these Terms of Use and Privacy Policy, and the resolution of any disputes arising in connection with the Portal, shall be governed exclusively by Portuguese law and submitted to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Administrative Court of the Lisbon Circuit.
